Although parenthood can be tiring, it is also a joy and Kevin and Danielle Jonas couldn't be more happier to have the company of their baby girl.

The new parents gave a sneak peek inside their newborn daughter's playroom, which includes dark blue and white furniture, orange colored floral wallpaper with the word "Play" plastered across the wall.

"The playroom is so cool! My good friend Vanessa [Antonelli] from NessaLee Baby designed it," said Danielle to Celebrity Baby Scoop. "Our home is traditional, and with her nursery being a light purple, we wanted to do something different with the playroom, which is a royal blue brown white and orange with multiple difference textures."

Antonelli said that her inspiration behind the custom-designed playroom was all about combining fashion with function.

"Functionally fashionable was the goal," said the designer. "Kevin and Danielle have a modern sense of style that I infused into the space and made sure everything in it would take them for many years. It's glam, but not too girly in case there are more Jonas babies in their future."

"Both Danielle and Kevin loved the idea of navy as opposed to traditional playroom colors or pinks," continued Antonelli. "They knew exactly what they wanted as far as functionality. It was important to have couch seating, play seating, book storage, toy storage, additional open space for future toys and a changing table to use now."

The designer stated that it's all about the details when it comes to favorite elements in the room. From the "tiny pom poms on the drapes" to the "bird wallpaper and textured bark wallpaper" which ties "back to the tree bookcase" gives the room a "subtle theme."

"The way the navy overlays on the closet doors blend so well with the changing table's style completes the look. Plus, who can resist a teeny tiny ghost chair?" said Antonelli.

It's already been two months since Alena Rose was born and the parents are excited to share every moment with their friends, family and fans.

After celebrating her 1 month birthday on March 2, Kevin posted on Twitter that he is happy his baby girl is happy, healthy and growing so much just one month after being born.

Kevin and Danielle are excited to start their new lives together as parents, sharing special moments with their daughter. Danielle showed the first picture of her baby right after giving birth and then Kevin shared an adorable moment with Alena as he cradled her in his arms.

The new father previously tweeted, "I'm so in love with her" and has been posting various pictures of the two of them together on the social app.
